BIDDIES TO ENGAGE IN LAYING CONTEST

World's Championship Event Will Be Held Under Auspices of Connecticut Agricultural School.

Storrs, Conn., Nov. 2.—The world's championship egg-laying contest has just started at the Connecticut Agricultural School. Five hundred "biddies" representing thirteen states, provinces in Canada and one English poultry yard, are entered. Each team of five has a substitute to be used in case of death or disability.

There will be no battles present during the year's laying. Experts say roosters are not necessary anyway to egg laying and that they cause eggs to decay more quickly.

The contest originated with a Philadelphia newspaper which has offered $2,000 in prizes to the winners. "Mrs. Hen" will be given every opportunity to break all records for such contests, the like of which are common in Europe. The best poultry experts in the country have co-operated in the construction of the buildings and the ground arrangements. "Mrs. Hen" will receive the best of board.

Among the interesting entries are a delegation of Rhode Island birds from the "Trappist Monks" at La Trappe, Quebec, and a company of White Leghorns from Catawboro, England.

PRESIDENT REVIEWS THE NATION'S NAVY AMID ROARING GUNS

Taft at New York Today Witnesses Greatest Gathering of War Ships Ever Assembled by the United States.

New York, Nov. 2.—Amid an oratorio of firing cannon and as the tiny three pointers roared the 21 gun salute to the Commander-in-Chief of the United States army and navy, President Taft aboard the yacht Mayflower today reviewed the greatest armada America has ever gathered together.

Pres. Taft's private car landed at Jersey city at 7:30. He breakfasted aboard the Mayflower. It was 8:30 when the tiny deck cannon of the presidential yacht cracked 21 times—the signal to the fleet that its commander-in-chief soon would visit and examine it. From the moment the presidential flag was broken out on the Mayflower until the great battleship fleet received the order to "up anchor and stand in review" there was a constant hurrying of small guns. Navy Year had not heard such a cannonading since days of the English. Thousands of people lined the Hudson along the Hudson.

Rear Admiral Oosterhaus of the flag-ship Connecticut and the division commanders boarded the Mayflower and set out to return the calls of his subordinates. Owing to his limited time he only boarded the flag-ship.

Battleship after battleship barked out the presidential salute as they passed. The battleships passed, the cruisers took up the firing. Then the distinctive torpedo boats, destroyers and the smaller submarines took up the echo.

MERCHANTS PETITION A CHANGE IN ROUTES

Janesville Traction Company May Have City Cars Meet at Myers House as Formerly.

When the Rockford and Interurban Railway company discontinued interurban service on the west side, local service was tried on the Franklin street line, and all Spring Brook passengers are brought to the corner of Franklin and West Milwaukee streets, which was made the transfer point.

In the petition filed by the city against the Rockford and Interurban railway company, with the railway commission of Wisconsin, he made complaint about the cars switching and interfering with travel at the corner of West Milwaukee and Franklin streets. J. P. Baker and H. L. McNamara corroborated this statement in the petition, by their affidavits, the substance of this allegation in the petition and their statements being that the bringing of all the cars to the transfer point interfered seriously with traffic and business.

Hearing of this, the merchants on the east side of the river have staged a petition to the Janesville Traction company, feeling that business would be made by the street side business now, made by the street side business now, made by the street side business now.

It is not known what action the Janesville Traction company will take, as its representatives refuse to say anything about the matter.

MAYOR OF GARY TO BE TRIED ON GRAVE CHARGES NEXT WEEK

With Other Officials of Indiana City He Stands Accused of Grafting.

Said to Have Accepted Bribes.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Valparaiso, Ind., Nov. 2.—To the court records of Porter County there are about to be added several interesting chapters that might be appropriately entitled "The Troubles of a Model Town." The cases of Mayor Thomas E. Knotts and several other officials of the city of Gary, against whom serious charges are pending, are on the docket for next Saturday and it is expected the trials will begin here early in the coming week. If half that has been printed concerning the alleged corruption in the "model city" planned and dominated by the steel trust is true, then revolutions may be expected at the trials that will relegate the political grafters in some of the big cities to the shelf reserved for "fakers."

The city of Gary has yet to celebrate its tenth birthday, but despite its youth it is a city in all that the word implies. Where scarcely a decade ago there was nothing but the long sweep of sand dunes on the shore of Lake Michigan there are now located the greatest steel mills in the country, together with numerous other industries that have been attracted by the excellent transportation facilities and other advantages offered by the new city.

But with the virtues also came the vices of the metropolis. For several years the newspapers have told of the moral and political corruption alleged to flourish in the "model town." Many of the vicious element driven out of Chicago from time to time are said to have found Gary a most favorable haven. Gambling houses are said to have been conducted almost openly. Frequent arrests by the Federal authorities have given rise to the belief that the little city also has been the center of the "white slave traffic."

Efforts of the better element to "clean up" the place have proved unavailing. The authorities were unmovable. At the head of the affairs was Thomas E. Knotts, who held the majority, it is alleged, by virtue of an election in which thuggery held the winning hand. Knotts came to Gary a few years ago from Hammond, where he conducted a newspaper and was prominent in politics. So far as it is known he was not overburdened with worldly goods when he stepped off the train in the "model town." Today he is reputed to be in the near-millionaire class, with heavy interests in realty, manufacturing, public utility and banking corporations in and around Gary.

Failing to make any progress in the crusade against vice, the reformers in the town turned their attention to the political corruption alleged to exist. Their progress along this line promised better results from the moment they hit the trail. The climax came early in September when Mayor Knotts and several members of the city council were placed under arrest charged with bribery.

It is charged by detectives, who have carefully worked up the case, that the mayor and those arrested with him solicited a bribe of $3,000 from representatives of a utilities company to put through a heating franchise which would have entailed an expenditure of many thousands of dollars by the city and the public.

Diagrams records will play a stellar part in the coming trials. It is said that diagrams were connected up in the hotel room occupied by T. B. Dean, the applicant for the franchise, and also in the mayor's private office.

One extract from the diagrams records made public purports to be a conversation between Dean and Alderman E. L. Bowser. The conversation is thus recorded:

Dean—What did the mayor say about my matter, Mr. Bowser? Bowser—I started to tell you that I told him there was $3,000 in it for us. Right here is where he got interested. He wanted to know what I knew about you personally and if you were all right, and if you had the money to go ahead, and build the plant. I told him you were, and asked him how he stood in the A. F. of E. club. Tom said, "A. F. E. he got in this matter for me. If Dean and his franchise are all right we will put it across."

Mayor Knotts was arrested in the city hall just after Dean came from the executive's office with the heating franchise in his pocket. Dean alleges he paid the mayor $5,000. Before entering the mayor's office, Dean had himself searched by four persons as a proof that he had the $5,000 in his pocket when he entered Mayor Knotts' room. When he left the room he had himself searched again. He told the deputies to serve the warrant, and they would find the money in an envelope in a pigeon-hole in Mayor Knotts' desk.

The horse is a three-year-old, belonging to a Chicago man and is stable in a box stall. The mayor, on his way to the center of the barn entered the stall and attempted to get the horse. As he passed through and started to open the door on the other side the horse suddenly whirled and began kicking violently at him. Mr. Nichols was driven into the corner of the stall and while endeavoring to get to the door at which he entered he was narrowly missed several times by the horse's hoofs.

His left arm was lightly bruised and he was struck in the stomach, but he was almost out of reach at the time so that he sustained no serious injury. Had he not been able to jump so quickly he would probably have received serious injury as the only other person within hearing would have had to climb over a high wall to have reached him. All things considered, it was a very lucky escape.

PREFERS BIG HAT TO A JOB

Woman Employed in the Treasury Department Fifty Years Quite Resenting Recent Order.

After nearly fifty years of continuous service as a counterfeit detector in the treasury department, Mrs. Wella A. Leonard resigned because she could not comply with a recent order issued by Secretary MacVough.

The order was that employees of the treasury department must leave their wraps and hats in lockers constructed for the purpose in the basement of the treasury building, and not in the offices. The lockers are tall and narrow and afford little room for large hats. Many of the hats worn by the fair workers of the department have to be placed in the lockers on their sides.

White House Up-Keep Expensive. It costs the United States $50,000 a year to keep the White House cozy and presentable. Last year 100 men were employed all year repairing the building. The many social functions of the past year also added to the expense.

STUDENTS ENJOYED TALK THIS MORNING

Dr. Sulechra, Formerly a Resident in Assyria, Mesopotamia, Gave Interesting Address.

Dr. Sulechra, a former resident of Nineveh in the Mesopotamia, now living at Grand Rapids, Mich., gave a very interesting address to the students at the opening of high school this morning. Dr. Sulechra told some of his experiences during twenty-two years spent under the despotic Turkish rule, describing many of the cruel and atrocious methods employed.

When a young man he ran away to America where he hoped to gain an education. Taking up the work from the very lowest grade, he achieved remarkable success and is now a graduate of the University of Minnesota and Rush Medical school.

Speaking of his work in America he said: "I came 13,000 miles to get

GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU

New Convenience Established For the Free Use of the Public.

The object of the Bureau is to furnish gratuitous information regarding travel, routes, etc., as fully as possible; the service will be entirely impartial and advice will be offered as to the most convenient route to any given point.

Practically all of the various lines of railroads and transportation companies, including steamship and boat lines, all over the country have furnished their time-tables and literature for this bureau and all current literature and folders will be supplied by these companies as fast as they are issued.

A specially constructed folder rack with pockets for 100 different folders has been installed and filled with the time-tables and printed matter, available to anyone desiring to make use of the BUREAU.

Bureau Will Be Popular.

There is a demand for such a convenience as this, people generally are not familiar with the lines of road over which they pass to their destination, they know nothing about connections or the time of trains, steamships or boats. They cannot always find literature pertaining to this matter and with all these points supplied through the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU, the prospective traveler is enabled to map out his trip without the inconveniences which have hitherto beset him.

Attractive Travel Literature.

Some very handsome descriptive matter is among the material at the Bureau. If you contemplate a trip to the west or northwest this winter or to the south or to the southwest, many of the folders and books will interest you. If you will journey to Cuba or take a cruise on some of the popular bodies of water to neighboring islands, the BUREAU will supply you with the proper literature descriptive of that particular point.

Make use of this Bureau, feel perfectly free to call or write at any time and your requests will receive careful attention.

Things at Yard Quiet: A lull in the busy shops and yards made its appearance in the yards this morning and was very welcome to all those concerned. The past week the men at the yards and in the shops have been working day and night in putting engines into shape, repairing cars and the thousand and one other things that have to be done in a place of that kind. Although there is plenty to do at the yards the men are not being rushed in the manner that they have the past two weeks.

William Noonan, of the motive power department, has resigned his position.

Switchman Lightizer is enjoying a few days leave of absence and is busily engaged in moving his household goods.

Only two extras were ordered out this morning. However, indications are that a few more will be called out in the course of the day. Engineer Hassenman and Fireman Savant took Engine 1041 to Fond du Lac and Engineer Madden was at the throttle of 758, bound for Harvard.

Flagman Joyce at the Five Points was the first man on the lines here to don his fur overcoat. It was very cold this morning when he came to work, but the work at the Five Points was very strenuous this morning and between hunting around with the dog, and the beating down of Old Sol, he shortly took it off and for a while yet will stick to his sheepskin.

First American Trade Token.

The first token issued in the United States was in 1789 by William and John Mott, Water street, New York city, manufacturers and dealers in watches and jewelry. It was a pretty little piece, somewhat smaller than the old copper cent. The next issue of tokens was by Talbot, Altum & Lee, Indian merchants in Pearl street, New York city. These cents bear the date of 1794 and 1795. The design and die work are especially fine. They were struck in England and had a large circulation.

Human Nature.

Complaint is the largest tribute heaven receives, and the sincere part of our devotion.—Dean Swift.

DO NOT LEAN UPON OTHERS

Learn to Stand Alone or You Never Will Become Strong or Original.

Power is the goal of every worthy ambition, and only weakness comes from imitation or dependence on others, says Orison Swift Marden in Success Magazine. Power is self-developed, self-generated. We cannot increase the strength of our muscles by sitting in a museum and letting another exercise for us.

Nothing else so destroys the power to stand alone as the habit of leaning upon others. If you lean, you will never be strong or original. Stand alone or bury your ambition to be somebody in the world.

The man who tries to give his children a start in the world so that they will not have so hard a time as he had, is unknowingly bringing disaster upon them. What he calls giving them a start will probably give them a setback in the world. Young people need all the motive power they can get. They are naturally learners, imitators, copiers, and it is easy for them to develop into echoes, imitations. They will not walk alone while you furnish crutches; they will lean upon you just as long as you will let them.

THURER'S BOWLERS
LOSE TO WOLCOTT'S

Cardinals Lost Two Games to Browns in Ten Pin Match at Hockett's Alley Last Night.

Recovering from a defeat received in their first game last night when Thurer's five worsted them by a hundred points, Wolcott's team took a second start, and by cautious playing were able to win the next two games. O'Grady made the high score of the evening, bowling 186 in one game. Tonight the Greys and Maroons will play. Last night's score was:

BASEBALL NOTES.

Now it is Honus Wagner of the Pirates that is mentioned as the next manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Jimmy McAleer is confident that Jake Stahl will consent to play again and to join the Boston Red Sox.

The Cardinals' defeat at the hands of the Browns and the White Sox killing the Cubs were the real surprises of the post-season games.

By playing in every position on the Denver team W. J. Kenworthy equaled the record made by "Bunt" Smith of the Philadelphia Nationals.

Charlie Comiskey's deer-slaying party, forty strong, is enjoying camp life near Mercer, Wis. This is the 12th annual outing under the chaperonage of the White Sox master.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

Paul Voodor, Yale's old halfback, is coaching the Eli backs at New Haven. Brown and West Point have put the crusher on the so-called "Big Four" of the East. West Point defeating Yale two years in succession is quite a record for the Outlets.

Carlisle scored 193 points in the first six games this season, while its opponents scored ten.

Jack Bowler, the trainer, sits at the training table with the Dartmouth players to see that they eat little meat.

The University of Mississippi football team has a star in Fullback Cal-hill. He is a great kicker of field goals.

Hogle, of the Michigan eleven, kicked a placement goal from the fifty yard line in the Michigan-Ohio State university game.

One of the features at the Georgia-Carolina fair at Augusta will be the annual football game between Clemson and the University of Georgia.

The longest and highest punts, from the time they are kicked until they descend to the field, rarely are in the air more than 3 or 3.5 seconds.

Harvard and Yale have not crossed each other's goal line since Yale turned the trick in 1907. There should be something doing in the 1911 game. Seven-o'clock.

WITH THE BOXERS.

Kid McCoy and Kid Vonhof of Evansville, Ind., will meet at Gary, Ind., November 10.

Fight fans in the South are highly elated over Tommy Dixon who fights in the featherweight class.

The New York promoters say that unless decisions are given in bouts in that city, the game will soon be down and out.

"As Dumb as a Fish."

"As dumb as a fish" is a saying that does not apply to many species of sea water denizens. The mardian, before it draws its last breath, raises a feeble squeak like the squeak of a mouse. In some fish the vocal organs are somewhat well developed.—Harper's Weekly.

'BLUFF' AMONG THE NEGROES

Little Story of a Quarrel That Illustrates Their Love of Flourish and Pose.

Love of bluff is a curious characteristic of the negro. Sometimes the deadly razor becomes active with a vengeance, but countless other times it is merely flourished with frightful threats and boasts of its slashing qualities. These are vanity poses.

One night recently I saw a striking living picture of this kind. I was one of a crowd which got off an early morning elevated train. A negro quarrel was in progress in front of a house on the opposite side of the street and all stopped to watch it. One husky black was about to apply an axe to the cranium of a smaller negro, when an ally of the lesser one threatened the husky individual with a blackjack from behind. Thus it stood—if the axe fell on one skull the blackjack would descend on another. Neither participant seemed willing to "start anything." There was the tableau and it simply died away like a moving picture—climax on the screen.

Evidently this scene of inaction overtaxed the patience of the dusky spectators, for they broke the lull by tossing beer bottles at one another. This, too, was without glinger. Just as I stepped behind a telegraph pole to avoid the flying glass, an excited old darkey appeared at the door and fired a shotgun over the heads of the disputants.

A peaceful citizen next to me was taken to the hospital and I limped home with bird shot in my legs. The old man's bluff was effective and the careful blacks dispersed, seeking their beds to dream of flocks of chickens and trainloads of watermelons.

Truth of the Case.

Betty Richwood thinks it provoking for a woman who has been working all day mending her husband's coat to find a love letter from another in the pocket. That is perfect nonsense. There is not a woman on earth but would find the letter before she began to mend the coat—and then the coat would not be mended at all.

The Smell Was Cheap.

"What's the strange, quaint odor?" asked a lady who was walking with a friend in the foyer of one of the big New York hotels. Her companion sniffed sharply. "Why, it's Japanese chrysanthemum oil," she replied. "It's rare nowadays. It's used on the hair, and is elaborately mixed with perfume. If there is anything more expensive I haven't heard of."

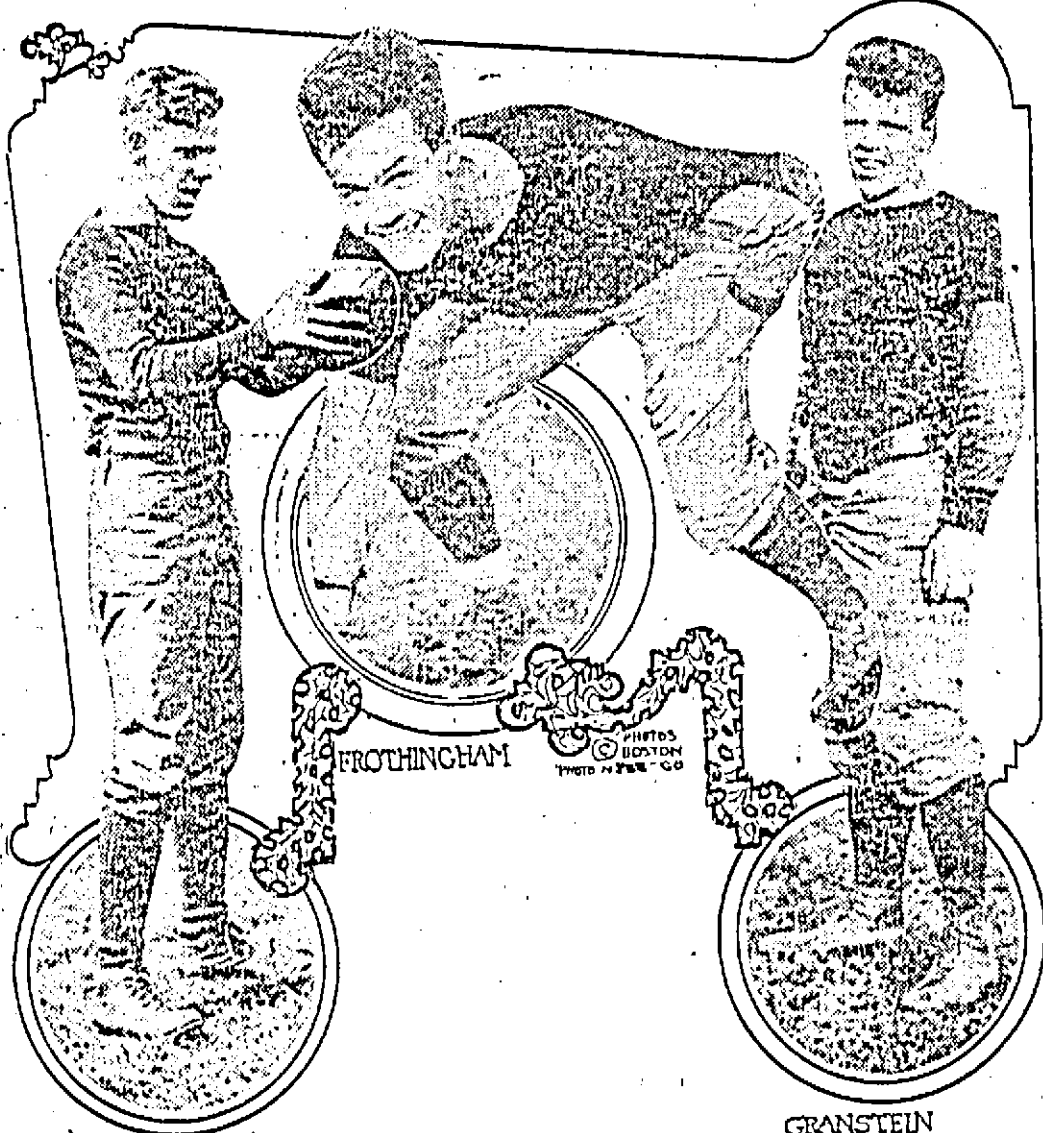

Value of a True Friend.

A sure friend is best known in an adverse state. We know not whom to trust till after trial. There are some that will keep us company while it is clear and fair who will be gone when the clouds gather. That is the only friendship which is stronger than death; and those the friends whose fortunes are embarked in the same bottom—who are resolved to sink or swim together.

Beyond Cavi.

A man dropped his wig in the street and a boy who was following close behind picked it up and handed it to him. "Thanks, my boy," said the man. "You're the first genuine hair restorer I have ever seen."—Minneapolis Journal.

CRUCIAL CONTEST OF THE WEEK
IN HARVARD-BROWN GAME.

Three of the Harvard Stars. Left to right: Pammenter, Tom Frothingham, and Eddie Granstein.

Boston, Mass.—The contest of next

Saturday between Harvard and Brown is considered the most crucial test of the eastern schedule, owing to the strength displayed this year by the both teams. Captain Sprackling of Brown is a host in himself, and with the aggregation of weight and spirit with which he is surrounded on the Brown 1911 team, there is little question but that he will be able to hold the Cambridge team to a hard game. Harvard is depending for its strength largely on three stars, Tom Frothingham, Pammenter, and Eddie Granstein.

Description Fitted.

Very frequently the winter highways in the Yukon Valley are mere trails, traversed only by dog-sledges. One of the bishops in Alaska, who was very fond of that mode of travel, encountered a miner coming out with his dog team, and stopped to ask him what kind of a road he had come over. The miner responded with a stream of forcible and picturesque profanity, whirling up with: "And what kind of trail did you have?" "Same as yours," replied the bishop feelingly.

Awkward Observation.

Allice's pretty young cousin felt faint, and the handsome physician who happened to be present felt her fluttering pulse with professional acuity, but more than professional ardor. Allice convulsed the knowing bystanders by sagely inquiring: "Why don't you tell her to put out her tongue?"

MICHIGAN TO HAVE STRONG ELEVEN.

Couch Yost has again built up one of those famous gridiron machines for which his work at Michigan has become famous throughout the country. Undergraduates and alumni predict the Maize and Blue eleven will go through the season without having a defeat. It will probably be the strongest team which Michigan has had since 1901. The crucial points in the Michigan schedule for 1911 are the Pennsylvania and Cornell games.

From the Pennsylvania game an idea of its strength as compared with these teams will be had and from its game against Cornell it will be compared with western teams through the Chicago-Cornell game.

The personnel of the team this year is much the same as last. Garrels, a brother of the famous "Jimmie" Garrels, has taken the place at end left vacant by the loss of Edmunds. Captain Conklin is playing in his old position as tackle and is doing brilliant work in the early season. The guard positions have been hardest to fill. The loss of Denbrooke was a severe blow to the team. Patterson, a new man, is playing center. Wells was all-American end of last season's team and is holding down his extremity of the line to the entire satisfaction of Coach Yost. Craig, who has had some experience at quarterback work, will go back to the backfield where his speed and weight are of more advantage.

Meek will undoubtedly do the kicking for the team as he has shown remarkable strength in this department.

Mixing Concrete. For mixing concrete there has been invented a spade with long oval holes in the blade, through which the finer cement will flow and give the surface a finer finish.

Eating Acid Fruits. Acid fruits should not be eaten with food rich in starch, such as bread and milk, cereals and meat. They combine well, however, with vegetables and other fruits.

JOHN WANAMAKER'S OPINION.

John Wanamaker in an address at Philadelphia, declared that the large business interests of the country would conform with the requirements of the Sherman anti-trust law as interpreted by the Supreme Court, and that this adjustment would be followed by an era of prosperous business conditions.

Mr. Wanamaker characterizes Mr. Taft as "our greatest lawyer President," who, he said, would apply the law with reasonableness and justice.

"President Roosevelt practically initiated proceedings against certain trusts that restrained trade, controlled production and held prices in some instances for enormous dividends," said Mr. Wanamaker.

"A day has come when the people all over the United States would demand relief. That day had to come or there would have been anarchy."

"That day of relief has arrived. It has come with firm steps, but kindly, with the reasonableness and justice of our greatest lawyer President and the moderation and wisdom of the Supreme Court."

"Now, with a little patience, time and fairness, all the great trusts will conform to laws on the statute book as understood and interpreted by the highest tribunal of the Government of the United States. For this reason, I believe we are on the eve of a new era of a better, safer, steadier, prosperous business decade."

"America can square itself to war when it has to be, and yet more easily to permanent peace. So it can and will square itself in the regulation of tariffs, trusts and stock markets."

"The highest glory of this century will be for America when it is recognized by the world that its people have become reverent and obedient to laws, and have demanded and secured the prompt execution of every law on the statute book, that equal justice may be done to the poor and to the rich without delay or favor."

Mr. Wanamaker's judgment is considered sound on any business proposition and his deductions on the present situation are worthy of consideration. No one believes for a moment that the Supreme Court of the nation will tolerate the confiscation of property and while the Standard Oil, the American Tobacco Company and the United States Steel Company may be inconvenienced by changing their methods of doing business by complying with the law, it does not necessarily mean the destruction of property.

The power of money is never more apparent than when vested in the hands of a few men. Mr. Rockefeller to find an outlet for his surplus wealth becomes the financial backer of a string of grocery stores, scattered through some of the eastern states. Another capitalist invests in drug stores. Another in notions, while the American Tobacco Company floods the cities with cigar stands.

These places of business are in the hands of salaried men and the local merchant, who is a tax payer and property owner, come in direct competition with outside capital, which has no direct interest in his home town.

When Senator Gaylord, the socialist representative from Milwaukee, addressed the Twilight Club last winter he referred to these conditions and predicted that in ten years the average merchant, in the small towns and cities, would be clerk instead of proprietor.

This prophecy is wide of the mark, and yet between the mail order house, the big department store, and the competition of outside capital, the field of the local dealer is badly invaded, while the buying public is no better served than it would be if this sort of competition was eliminated. The patrons of a mail order house pays as much for a cheap article as they would for a good article at home, and the man who smokes trust made cigars finds his greatest consolation in a prize coupon. Just what the women get for buying soap and sundries in Buffalo is an open question.

The Sherman law, as interpreted by the Supreme Court attempts to encourage legitimate competition by curtailing the power of consolidated wealth. The general public has but little interest in the matter, as there is no sentiment in business and the average citizen denounces Standard Oil and shouts for reform, with a mail order catalogue under his arm. Time alone will determine what good results will be accomplished by the legal battle now on.

Expert statisticians show that during the past six months automobiles have played a large part in the country's export of New York alone during that time. As a climax of this movement, the New York Central is bringing in today a special train of 40 cars, all loaded with automobiles from Detroit for export. The contents of the train consists of 60 machines from the E. M. P. factory, of which 30 are for London and the remainder for Australia.

Automobile men say that the United States is shipping motor cars to countries which not very long ago were shipping their output here. The durability and lower prices of American cars are held to be the chief causes of their popularity abroad.

This speaks well for American manufacturers and accounts for a market which promises to be a good outlet for the new industry. The automobile has come to stay.

It is rumored that Postmaster General Hitchcock will resign and marry a wealthy New York widow. If the report is true the publishers will wish him God speed and an army of postal employees will take a day off to celebrate. There are some other members of the president's political household whose resignation would be a source of satisfaction. Among them the Attorney General, whose activities are causing so much disturbance to business interests.

One of the prize winners in the Gregory land lottery will lose her claim because she lacks a few days of being twenty-one years of age. These land drawings interested the president's party which passed through the territory the day that the awards were announced. They are referred to as lotteries pure and simple because they bear the stamp of legality which goes to show that a thing may be legally right while morally wrong.

Modest Boston is complaining about the physical examination of school girls, now being conducted by the Board of Health in compliance with the provisions of a new law. Eighty odd so called physicians are engaged in the work, and many of them are medical students and down and out doctors, who through some political pull are given employment. Wisconsin is not the only state that looks after "God's patient poor" by annexing their names to the pay roll.

The importance of a fire drill in the school buildings was demonstrated this morning when the third ward alarm was turned in. The children were all out of the building before the fire chief arrived on the scene which was less than five minutes after the first stroke of the bell. The school board should insist that these drills be observed every week in every school building in the city.

With a commission plan of government, the city would not be paying for inferior hose and every investment would represent full value. By the same token there would be no scrap over street repairs. The business of the city would be transacted in a business like manner and money would be saved in every department.

John Sandberg of Keokuk, Iowa, took out his naturalization papers the other day and then went and sandbagged his wife to demonstrate that he was a free American citizen. John is now minus a wife, but he has the satisfaction of knowing that he is a full fledged voter.

Suspense That Hurts.

Of all the conditions to which the heart is subject, suspense is the one that most gnaws and cankers in the frame.

EXPOSURE

(Copyrighted 1911, by C. N. Mather.)

For he carries the woes of the town in his mind in a manner that's perfectly calm and resigned.

He receives all the kicks that the folks can invent.

And he paddles advice without charging a cent.

He is known as the court of the final resort.

"Don't think" are his forte and he asks them no price.

For two columns a week of good household advice.

They expect him to fight all their battles and say.

All the things they're afraid to, in a sarcastic way.

When they send their roast they say; "Don't use my name."

They're willing to share no part of the blame.

When they air all their complaints, it's every one's note.

That they pick out the newspaper man as the goat.

He announces their births and their weddings and when.

They pass out he just picks up his faithful old pen.

And, although he doesn't know which way they went, He prunes them skyward and lies like a gent.

When an item's omitted, with frowns he is chided.

And if it is printed, he'd apt to be killed.

He is roasted and criticized at every turn.

And is told that his paper "ain't worth a red darn."

But every one of them feels hurt, just the same.

If he looks through the paper and can't find his name.

So the editor toils through the day and the night.

And he always is wrong and he never is right.

When he feels that he'd done just the best that he could.

They pay up their subscriptions in pumpkin and wood.

Many people have wondered where this man will go.

When he's finished his life of contention and woe.

But he surely has earned a long rest and a crown.

With a six-column sheet in a one-column town.

ACCORDING TO UNCLE ARNER.

Undertaker Amos Jenkins had bought a new racing automobile and is tearing up the ground in these parts.

He figures that the car will increase his business considerably if handled right.

Outside of paintin' a picket fence, it always seems to me that tryin' to out-eat fishy gravy with a fork is about the puttermost job goin'.

Mr. Elmer Jones has just returned home from an extended trip for his health. He was sellin' peanut canes around at the county fair. He says he didn't go on the trip exactly for his health, but practically amounted to that.

Luke Hilliker has lost his lucrative position at the feed mill and as he has nothin' particular in view he is tryin' to decide whether to go into vaudeville or the insurance business.

Hank Purdy says there ain't no particular savin' in smokin' a five cent cigar that some feller gives you, for it generally takes a nickel's worth of matches to keep it goin'.

Famous men look just like the common ordinary dubs when they haven't got their hair combed.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

WAIT.

Learn to labor and to wait. It is easier to labor than to wait. Labor is the natural expression of energy. Patience is a police of mind that must be acquired.

Usually the young are impatient. They cannot wait for things to grow.

There are seedtime and harvest time. You may labor at the one, but you must wait for the other, and it will only spoil the reaping to dig up the seed to find out if it is sprouting.

Wait.

It may seem slow. But wait. Plant and plow, push—wait.

See that company of militia? "Left, left, left, right, left," intones the drillmaster. Each soldier lifts one foot, then another, but the battalion moves forward not an inch.

The soldiers are "marking time," waiting for the forward command.

No sometimes must we keep step and wait.

The advisers of Abraham Lincoln warned him that if he should take a certain position in the debate with Douglas it would defeat him for the United States senate.

"Probably," said Lincoln, "but I can afford to wait."

His ability to see the logical outcome and to possess his soul in patience made Lincoln great.

Wait.

Frequently when in council General Lee's generals would urge an immediate movement. The great Lee would close the debate by saying, "We will wait."

"Wait until you see the whites of their eyes, then fire," said Putnam at Bunker Hill.

The wise man awaits the right moment. He has learned the subtle secret that time is of the essence of things accomplished, and he calmly awaits the outcome. No labors. But he waits.

Wait.

The vessel cannot be launched until the ways to the sea are made ready. Harm will come to the great hull if the bulkheads and stays are knocked out prematurely.

Wait.

Your enterprise grows slowly? Well, you are not growing a mushroom. Labor, but wait.

Patience is power.

Wait.

Do Not Dwell in Harmony.

At Sutton, in Norfolk, a mavin and a blackbird have started housekeeping on the co-operative principle, laying their eggs in the same nest. The same pair of hens tried a similar experiment last year, with dire results to the young mavin, the young blackbird having gently coaxed them out of the nest into the cold world. But the enterprising parents apparently insist on giving the scheme a fair trial.

Salt With Vegetables.

A good vegetable rule is salt with vegetables that are green, no salt in those containing starch or grown underground. Most vegetables are put on in boiling water, though some housewives make exceptions to this rule.

Prescience.

"There is coming a break in your life through a blonde woman." "I know it! My nice dinner set is going to get smashed by our new Swedish cook!"

Value of Coconut.

The coconut is not only valuable as a source of food and drink in tropical countries, but it is also the best of all trees for shade.

Oysters Are Nervous.

Oats are not nearly so easily frightened as oysters. Oysters are so nervous that a crash of thunder will kill hundreds of them.

When THE WORLD FINALLY DOES END.

Somewhere will be trying to get somewhere in a balloon.

It will be reported authentically that Duke Abruzzi and Katie Eldins are about to be married.

Rockefeller will still be telling his Bible class how to save $10,000 a year on a $10 a week salary.

Dave Warfield will be making another farrowed appearance in "The Music Master."

Four thousand, five hundred and seventy-six vaudeville performers will be springing that joke about the goat that has no nose.

A lot of people will be saving up cigar coupons to get a ticket, please.

The street car conductors will all still be yelling "Move forward, please."

Some aviator will just be breaking the record for height.

They will still be digging away at the Panama canal.

South Carolina Cotton Meeting.

Columbia, S. C. Nov. 2.—The proposition to erect cotton warehouses throughout South Carolina and the question of reducing the cotton acreage next year were the chief matters discussed at the meeting here today of the executive committee and membership of the South Carolina State Farmers' Union. The meeting, which was presided over by President E. W. Dabs, was well attended by members of the organization from all over the State.

Evil Influence of Birthdays.

Birthdays convey a suggestion of evil. What good suggestions do they convey? Suppose you did not know how old you were, would your usefulness in any way be impaired? Would any possible harm result? Suppose birthdays were abolished, what would be the result? The average use of the human race would increase by leaps and bounds. Birthdays are responsible for the psychic death line of three-score and ten which is more deadly than a machine gun.—Suggestion.

Woman's Valuable Life Work.

Miss Carola Waerlschoffer, who died recently in New York, had worked to learn from her own observation something of the pulse and troubles of working people. Through the civil service examination she became special inspector of labor under the bureau of Industries. She had spent much of her own money to aid the cause of the foreign immigrant, and at the time of her death was inspecting camps and small communities of alien laborers.

Do You Understand All Conditions Governing The Gazette's Prize Campaign? Some of the Many Questions Asked the Campaign Manager Are Answered--Read Them Carefully

THE NOMINATION BLANK.

Save all nomination blanks as each and every one will count 25 votes for yourself or your favorite candidate. After your candidate has been nominated it is necessary to write only her complete filling out is not necessary.

Questions and Answers.

1. What is the total value of the prizes? Ans. Over two thousand five hundred dollars.

2. How is the territory covered by The Gazette divided? Ans. Into three districts for the purpose of the campaign.

3. How many candidates win regular prizes? Ans. Thirteen.

4. Do non-prize winning candidates get something? Ans. Yes.

5. What is it? Ans. Five per cent of money they collect.

6. How many grand prizes? Ans. One 1912 Model Overland Touring Car. It will be awarded to the candidate having the highest number of votes regardless of districts.

7. How many district first prizes will be given? Ans. Three upright pianos, each valued at $350.

8. How many district second prizes will be given? Ans. Three beautiful diamond rings.

9. How many other district prizes will be given? Ans. Six. Three 28-week scholarships in The Janesville business college and three gold watches.

10. How may votes be secured? Ans. By clipping coupons from The Gazette or by securing paid-in-advance subscriptions or the settlement of arrears to The Gazette.

11. Who will be awarded the prizes? Ans. The person receiving the greatest number of votes in each district after the awarding of the Overland Touring Car.

12. If a candidate secures a short term subscription and later a longer one from the same party will she receive the difference in votes? Ans. Yes.

13. Must votes be published at the same time that subscriptions are sent in? Ans. No. They may be held in reserve and voted at any time before the campaign closes.

14. Any candidate secure a new subscriber to start or be renewed after the campaign closes? Ans. Yes.

15. Will votes be given for payments on renewals? Ans. Yes, all such to be counted as old subscribers.

16. Will votes issued to one candidate be transferred to another? Ans. Positively No.

17. May one subscriber be transferred from one member of a family to another and be counted as new? Ans. No.

18. Who may enter this campaign?

Ans. Any lady of good repute.

19. What does it cost to enter? Ans. Nothing.

20. How may I enter? Ans. Clip the nomination blank from The Gazette and send same to the campaign manager of this paper.

21. On what day does the campaign close? Ans. December 23, 1911.

As the names of the candidates are to be published next Monday, nominations should be entered previous to that date.

Nominations will be accepted after this date, but a great advantage is gained by having your name among those of the first announcement, as your friends may judge their assistance to another candidate, not knowing of your intentions.

No candidate is barred because who is not at present or never has been a Gazette subscriber.

Doubting would-be candidates should enter on the start; present your name at once and your host of friends will do the rest.

Energy Will Help to Win.

The ambitious lady who is quick to realize the advantage of this exceptional opportunity should see that her name is sent to the campaign manager and follow the instructions that appear daily. And, remember, to win, you must receive the largest number of votes, according to the conditions of the campaign.

After your nomination, call on and interest all your friends and by systematic and energetic action induce as many as possible, not only to cast their votes for you, but to interest their respective friends in your behalf.

The easiest and surest way to win is for candidates to ask their friends not only to save them the nomination blanks, but to settle arrears or to prepay their subscriptions.

Your friends will be glad to accommodate you, as this costs the subscriber nothing extra.

The settlement of these subscriptions entitles you to a special ballot which can be voted any time during the Overland Touring Car.

How the Voting is Done.

Any person who desires to vote in this campaign, may do so by properly filling out and voting the coupons and nomination blanks that appear in each issue of The Gazette but these coupons are good only up to a certain date. They will not be counted after the date printed on them.

The special vote ballots, which are issued for every subscription payment, may be cast any time during the campaign, and they will count their full value for the candidate whose name they bear.

People living in one district may vote for a candidate that lives in another; they are not confined to their own particular district.

At the close of the campaign the successful ones will receive orders from The Gazette for their respective prizes and all non-prize winners will receive cash to the amount due them.

Substitute for Rubber.

One of the many proposed substitutes for rubber is obtained from the seeds of the Manchurian bean, which resembles the kidney bean, and has been introduced from Japan and the east Indies into the southern United States. A rubber-like product that can be vulcanized is obtained by treating the bean with nitric acid, alkalies and great heat.

A Quaker Steel Furnace

Burns Soft Coal as Clean as Hard Coal

NO SOOT

IMPOSSIBLE TO CLOG UP.
NO JOINTS. QUAKER STEEL RANGES

QUAKER STEEL FURNACES are scientifically constructed to burn soft coal. The hot blast positively consumes in the furnace all gases and soot. You get the full benefit of the coal you burn.

QUAKER STEEL FURNACES are built of heavy steel plate, riveted into one solid piece.

QUAKER STEEL FURNACES generate a tremendous amount of pure warm air, and not a small stream of scorched, blistered unhealthy air. Don't buy an old fashioned furnace. Be up to date and buy a modern steel, soft coal burning furnace.

I thoroughly recommend them.

Those Girls.

"What a charming dress, my dear! Such a lovely shade of pink. You always show such perfect taste." (Merciful heavens! That dress must have been made for a wagon cover. And why in the name of sense she wears pink when it makes her look like a chunk of mud. I can not imagine.)

Wanted Them Kept Even.

A Cleveland mother sent this somewhat satirical note to the teacher of her small son: "Pardon me for calling your attention to the fact that you have pulled Johnnie's right ear until it is getting longer than the other. Please pull his left ear for a while and oblige his mother."

Spirit of Sympathy.

Beware of that bane of social life, evil speaking. Seek for the spirit of love which is the spirit of truth—for you can never know anyone without sympathy or love—and take care how to speak of those who have not yet learned to love. Never talk of other's faults without necessity and avoid those who do.—Huzlin.

Date of Columbus' Birth.

Historians differ as to the date of Christopher Columbus' birth, as well as to the place where he was born. Some have it that he was born in 1436, other in 1437. If the first date be correct he was 65 years of age when he discovered America.

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, GAS, DYSPEPSIA OR A SICK STOMACH

Relief in five minutes awaits every man or woman who suffers from a bad stomach.

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of gas or eructations or undigested food, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here and will relieve the most obstinate case of indigestion and upset stomach in five minutes.

Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take than Pape's Diapepsin and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now, you can get relief in five minutes.

Arabia's Laughing Plant.

The laughing plant is not a flower that laughs, but one that creates laughter. If the printed accounts of travelers can be believed, says an English paper, it grows in Arabia and is called the laughing plant because the seeds produce effects like those caused by laughing gas. The flowers are of a bright yellow, and the seed pods are soft and woolly, while the seeds resemble small black beans. Only two or three grow in a pod. The natives dry and pulverize them, and the powder, taken in small doses, makes the sobriest person behave like a circus clown or a madman, for he will dance, sing and laugh most boisterously and cut the most fantastic capers and be in an uproariously ridiculous condition for about an hour. When the excitement ceases the exhausted exhibitor of these antics falls asleep, and when he awakens he has not the slightest remembrance of his frisky doings.

Several from here attended "The German Market" given by the Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church last night.

Clinton House Improved.

The Clinton House which has been closed for the past summer has just been reopened under the management of Mr. Schurer of Beloit. The house has been completely repainted and painted. New furniture has been procured both for dining room and bed room.

A license has been granted by the city for the operating of a bar and Mr.

Competition.

"You still assert that competition is the life of trade?"

"Oh, yes," said Mr. Dustin Stax.

"But we don't care to compete for a chance to sell our goods. What we want is to find people with their money out competing for the privilege of buying them."

German Higher Education.

A recent convention of learned men at Berlin advised the government to establish two kinds of lycums for girls—one of eight years, corresponding to a high school in this country, and another, with a supplementary course of four years, preparatory to the university.

Stocks Slightly Lower on Market.

Another Reduction in Price of Sugar.

Hogs Still Weak; Cattle Are Strong.

Prices Remain on the Decline for Hogs While Cattle Reach the High Mark.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Further declines were noted on the hog market this morning, prices reaching the lowest point in the week. Only a few loads of the best hogs brought the top price of $6.45. Receipts were fairly heavy at 21,000.

The cattle market was strong and the top price for heaves at $9.15, was the high mark of the season. Trading was active. Quotations were as follows:

Few Changes Seen in Today's Markets.

Potatoes Slightly Higher—Barrelled.

Apples Misquoted Yesterday—

Are $4.00 to $5.00.

There are almost no changes which are noticeable today in the list of market products or in the prices. Potatoes have gone up from fifty to sixty cents a bushel. The Honduras oranges also have disappeared and the Mexican product occupies the entire market on oranges. Buckwheat flour has risen from thirty-five to forty cents a sack which means that pancakes will be worth more as a breakfast food than they have been. Some corn meal is bringing as high as thirty cents for ten pounds also.

Today's fish markets are found below and the variety of fresh fish has noticeably increased since last week.

As the cold weather comes on and it becomes easier to keep fish fresh the market will gradually improve in all probability.

Owing to a mistake in printing the price of barrelled apples was quoted

last night considerably out of the way.

Greenings and Baldwin are selling at four dollars, twenty ounce Pippins at four twenty-five and Jonathans and snobs at five dollars. These prices are authentic and when the extra fine quality of the year's apples are considered,

the housekeepers should be thankful that they are so cheap.

Today's prices are quoted as follows:

Vegetables.

Beets—1 1/2 to 2 lb.

Red Cabbage—5c.

Hot House Slicing Cucumbers—10c

each.

Carrots—1 1/2 to 2 lb.; 25c pk.

Parasols—2c. lb.

New Potatoes, bu.—50c.

Onions (Texas yellow)—2c to 3c lb.

Red Onions—3c lb.

Spanish Onions—7c. lb.

Egg Plant—10c.

Tomatoes, H. G.—2c to 3c lb. 15c pk.

Sweet Potatoes—35c pk. 4c to 5c lb.

Caiflower—10c to 20c.

H. G. Peppers—15c doz.

Red Peppers—2 and 3 for 5c.

Summer Squash—6c to 10c each.

Citron—15c, 2 for 25c.

Pie Pumpkins—5c to 15c.

Apples—Snow, 5c lb; Jonathan, 4c

ples, 2c to 3c lb; Baldwin, 2c lb, 7c bushel.

ings, $4.25; Baldwin, $4.00.

When Carving Was an Art.

In Old Days the Slicing Was Suited to the Importance of the Guest.

Carving was once a serious thing.

The sixteenth century carver was a professional. He had to make the joint fit the guest. The size of his slice was the thing. Then he had to know his guests and cut accordingly.

A lord, for instance, at the table,

and a pike was dished up whole.

Smaller fry, and the pike came on in slices. The same procedure with pig.

The rank of the diners decided whether it should appear at table in gold leaf or naked, whole or sliced. With bread, too, there was a difference.

New or three days old baked was at the discretion of the carver as he sized up the visitors. And as for the apportioning of the tidbits according to precedence there was no end. The old-time carver in fact was born and then made.

The eighteenth century was the day of the carving master. He taught hostenesses the art. Lady Mary Montagu, for instance, took three lessons a week "that she might be perfect on her father's public days, when, in order to perform her functions without interruptions, she was forced to eat her own dinner alone an hour or two beforehand."

The hostess carved while the host

"pushed the bottle." She did more.

She urged the guests to eat more and more, and woo to her if she neglected a guest. The diner who was forced to help himself to a slice of anything nearly choked. These diners of the eighteenth century liked being pressed. And the hostess welcomed the end of the feast.—London

Chronicle.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The area of high atmospheric pressure that was over the Rockies yesterday has now reached the middle of the country whence its influence extends westward across the Rockies, and eastward to the Atlantic. Clear, cold weather prevails in the upper Mississippi valley and in the northern Rockies. The lowest temperature recorded last night was zero at Huron, S. D. The line of freezing temperature was pushed far to the southwest of any position it has occupied hitherto this fall, and passed through northern Mississippi, southern Arkansas, northern Texas, and southern New Mexico. Snow flurries have continued in the lower Lake region and St. Lawrence valley. Rain and sleet are reported to have fallen in the Southwest. In this vicinity it will continue clear and cold tonight, but will be clear with rising temperature Friday.

JOINT INITIATION HELD LAST EVENING

Janesville and Madison Chapters of Hibernians Receive Twenty-Five Members.
Twenty-five new members were taken into the Ancient Order of Hibernians last evening by the local degree team. Both Janesville and Madison candidates were initiated into the order with all the ceremonies peculiar to the society and after this part of the program had been performed the entire company sat down to a most delightful banquet served in the order's rooms. Several very good numbers were given after the feast among the participants being Joseph C. Callan of Milwaukee, State President, Matthew Carpenter, president of the Milwaukee order, and State Vice-President, Dr. McFay, president of the Madison division. Mr. Inula of Chicago entertained the company with several selections on his life during the evening.

Use of Checks in France.
The governor of the Banque de France has just sent to the director of the departmental branch offices a circular instructing them about the use of crossed checks. The Temps in publishing these instructions points out the advantage of the English method of employing checks and then shows how the French system of making payments immobilizes capital unproductively in purses, drawers or banks, whereas those sums converted into checks would be profitable not only to their owner but also for the bank which employs them.

While the Bank of France has to face a bank note circulation of 5,000,000,000 francs and the monetary stock is 211 francs 75 centimes per head of the contributions, England with a greater amount of business has a bank note circulation of 698,000,000 francs and a monetary stock of 84 francs 58 centimes.

Destruction of Rats.
An East Africa publication contains a description of a method of destroying rats, followed in Java, in which carbon bisulphide is employed. In carrying out the method a small quantity, usually about half a teaspoonful of the carbon bisulphide is poured into the rat hole and after waiting a few moments to let the liquid evaporate, the mixture of air and vapor is lighted, a small explosion resulting and filling the hole with poisonous gas, killing the rats instantly. Such a process practiced openly might be objectionable under some circumstances because of danger from fire resulting from the explosion and a field for invention appears to offer itself to provide some form of fire-proof gun or explosion chamber suitably formed to be inserted in the mouth of the rat hole and adapted to enclose the explosion and discharge the resulting noxious gas into the hole.—Scientific American.

HEART AND HOME TALKS

BY BARBARA BOYD

The Home Girl and Her Dangers.

It is supposed that the girl who stays at home has few dangers, that those who go out into the world to earn their living. But certain dangers do await the home girl, and she must be on her guard against these, quite as much as must the business girl those of another kind.

One of the chief dangers that lies before the home girl is that she may slip almost unconsciously into selfishness. Mother tells her not to do this. Mother shields her from that. Mother shoulders this task. And before the home girl knows it, she is letting mother do all the hard work of the home, and she herself is sitting in idleness and ease, and enjoying all that is laid before her.

Another danger of the home girl is the dawdling habit. She doesn't have to be on time, or to do anything within a prescribed time, and so she dawdles. She fools around. She plays the piano a little while in the morning, while her room is waiting to be put in order, or the dishes to be washed. She thinks she will do a little sewing after awhile, but there is no real hurry; and so the time slips by, and the day is gone, and she hasn't begun it. If she isn't careful, she gets into the habit of never accomplishing anything.

If she is not on her guard, she will get the shopping habit, and spend hours down town drifting through the shops to no purpose whatever, except collecting samples, trying on hats, and otherwise making herself a nuisance to the salespeople. Or she will get the gossiping habit, and waste hours, hanging over the back fence, or standing on the porch talking chit-chat with the neighbors.

There are many such pitfalls as these in wait for the home girl. And she often unconsciously falls into them, not realizing their effect upon her character until the damage is done. For they do spoil character. The girl who does these things becomes a useless, purposeless being, whose life amounts to little. And thus she misses much of the purest joy of living. For life is given us to develop and build a beautiful character, and in doing this, we bring to ourselves joy. For joy and good go hand in hand, and the more of good we build into our character, the more of joy we bring into our life. So that the girl who has the privilege of living her life at home should carefully avoid these dangers that lurk in the very love and liberty of the home atmosphere, and go forward to a life of usefulness and purpose that will be a force for good in her home and community.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"We are going to have a whist party at our house tonight," announced the bright little girl.

"Isn't that nice," said I. "And I suppose you'll sit up to see the company?"

"Oh, my yes," said the bright little girl. "And I'm going to play, too. That is if someone doesn't come and there is an extra place. You know, but some people are so queer about not liking to play whist with children, no matter how smart they are, father says, so I'm only going to sit in."

The bright little girl is now going to twelve.

She is a remarkably pleasing little girl if it were not that she so frequently mirrors the fulsome flattery of her adoring parents in ways like the above.

Of course my first feeling was one of dislike and antagonism towards this priggish little peacock.

But my sober second thought was pity for her.

Poor little girl. She was only mirroring the homelike opinion of herself which her parents continually hold before her. It is the most natural thing in the world that she should. She can hardly help it any more than a mirror can help giving back the image of what is held before it.

But just think of all the dislike and ridicule and antagonism she is going to bring down on herself.

Truly, I think such parents are almost as guilty of cruelty to children and as fit subjects for the society with the long name as the parents who beat their children.

For I don't think that actual beating could cause much more suffering than the attitude into which her parents have gotten her is going to cause this bright little girl.

It is so easy to let a bright child see that you consider it a very marvelous creature with whom the rest of the world is scarcely fit to associate.

It is hard to keep your pride in its wonderful wit and precocity and beauty to yourself.

But if whenever parents are tempted to be careless in this regard they would stop and think of the inevitable unhappiness they are preparing for their children it doesn't seem to me they would take "the easiest way."

Wit and precocity and beauty are all nothing unless they bring what most of us want more than anything else on earth—love and popularity.

And if you neutralize them with a bombastic self conceit they will not bring these precious things.

Just think of that next time you want to tell your bright little girl that she plays whist better than her mother and that grown-up folks are queer not to want to play with her or whatever the particular dose of flattery you are inclined to administer happens to be.

Thought for Today

BY MRS. ROBERT M. LAFOLLETTE.

BODY AND MIND.

IN the great emphasis that is laid nowadays on the influence of mind over body, we must not forget the influence of body over mind. What we really should remember is their unity, their inseparable relationship. The correspondence of thought and feeling to action, seems to have been Descartes' special field. If the body is free and unoppressed, different inward states reflect themselves in characteristic outward expressions; these characteristic outward expressions tend through reflex action to produce inner states. A bodily attitude may be due to a physical condition or to a sentiment; but if due to a physical condition it may be due to a weak lungs or to a great sorrow; but if due to weak lungs there will be a tendency to depression of spirits, and if due to depression of spirits there will be depressed breathing.

The Descartes philosophy has fallen into disrepute because of the hosts of superficial followers of the idea. But there is no more up to date theory than that expressed by Professor William James in the following quotation:—"and it is a thought to dwell upon and let sink deep into the consciousness."

"From our acts and our attitudes, ceaseless impinging currents of sensation come, which help to determine from moment to moment what our inner state shall be."

Slower, deeper breathing means calmer, healthier thought; exercises which expand the chest and strengthen the diaphragm, strengthen the will; richer, sweeter tones not only tranquilize the listener, but soothe the disposition of the possessor; elasticity of step gives youthfulness and buoyancy to the spirit as well as to the body.

The far reaching effect, the deep significance of this spiritual reaction from physical condition, gives increased inspiration for the attainment of higher physical ideals and adds greatly to our responsibility for bodily improvement and cultivation.

Pleasant Occupation.

"Sithers made a pile of money in that gold-mine of his, didn't he?" asked Willoughby. "Yes—about five million," said Hickenlooper. "What's he doing now?" asked Willoughby. "Oh, he's resting on his ore," said Hickenlooper. It was upon presentation of the above under oath that the court acquitted Willoughby of assault and battery on the ground of extreme provocation.—Harper's Weekly.

Take Too Much Room.

The promise that the hoop skirt was on the way again with the coming fashions appears to have been a little premature, if not altogether a false alarm. This is a good thing. The country is more crowded now than it was when the hoop skirt was here before, and it may not be so easy as then to find room for it. Still, if it should return it would be necessary to get out of the way of it.

A DINNER FOR A BUSY DAY.

A busy ironing day, or a day when using the kitchen range for other things is a good time to have a whole dinner, except perhaps the dessert and a salad, cooked in one dish. Buy a piece of beef for stewing, a bit of veal, and if you have a broiled chop or two of lamb left from yesterday's dinner,

so much the better. Cut the meat in pieces large enough for a serving,

and brown well in a frying pan, using a little suet. Add a cupful of water to the frying pan, after removing the meat. Place the meat in a stone-covered dish, pour over the liquid from the frying pan, and put into a hot oven. After half an hour's cooking

add a few carrots, onions and potatoes. Ducto them with the broth occasionaly, and serve them from the casserole.

A simple salad to be served with this dinner is lettuce and French dressing. Prepare the lettuce early, and place on the ice, wrapped in a cloth. All water should be drained from the leaves, as the dressing will not stay on wet leaves. Prepare the dressing by beating together a tin-

ble spoonful of vinegar to three of oil,

a half teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of paprika or red pepper; a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce or one of catsup, or both, may be used.

When the dressing is thick and well blended pour over the lettuce. Serve at once, as the dressing will wilt the lettuce in a few moments.

A very dainty dessert easy to prepare and most delicious is musk melons. Cut the edible portion into cubes, add a little lemon juice and sugar and serve with small cakes or crackers.

When making pastry, bake several shells, and when a fruit pie is wanted in hurry, crush the fruit, cover with a meringue and brown in a hot oven. This same pie may be served with the fruit covered with whipped cream instead of the meringue.

CURIOUS BITS OF HISTORY

A HEROIC SPANISH MAIDEN.

By A. W. MACY.

A woman helped to give Napoleon his first check and to show Europe that he was not invincible. Her name was Agustina, and she is known in history as the Maid of Saragossa. In the Peninsular war the city of Saragossa was twice besieged by the French army; once in the summer of 1808 and again the following winter. The city had no fortifications but crumbling walls, behind which were a few ancient cannon; but the whole population, men, women and children, rushed to its defense. Bravest of them all was Agustina. She was not a woman of quality, only a lemonade seller in the streets; but she performed mighty deeds of valor and by her example encouraged others to acts of bravery. Once when a cannoner fell mortally wounded she snatched the fuse from his hand and herself fired the cannon. For her brave actions she was made an officer in the Spanish army, and presented with many decorations. Saragossa fell, but only after 50,000 of her citizens had perished from war and pestilence. Her heroic defense staggered Napoleon for a time, for it revealed the intrepid spirit of a people when fighting for their homes. Agustina lived to be very old, dying in 1857.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Colonial Dinner Worth Reviving For a Place in Modern Menus.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

Although the season for real turkey is near at hand a Cape Ann Turkey dinner in old New England style may be acceptable if a cook can be found who knows how to prepare it in the time-honored way. It is just a little doubtful if genuine salt codfish can be found for in these days it is more than likely that some cheap or fish is substituted. Cod has merits of its own that make it worth a little more than haddock for instance.

The very best way to buy salt cod is to secure the whole fish, for then it is easy to see whether it is genuine, but it is good fortune now to find it even in large places. The cook, who knows how, will serve this salt fish so that it separates into flakes that are soft and delicate. One who has never learned will transform it into a mass of hard waxy fibres.

The whole secret lies in cooking it at a low temperature. Cut the fish into pieces about three inches square and put them into a large bowl of cold water to stand over night. An hour and a half before dinner drain the pieces, lay in a kettle of cold water and set it where it will heat very slowly to the boiling point, but do not let the water boil. Check it by moving the bottle back and let stand an hour just before the boiling point is reached without boiling is absolutely necessary to keep the fish soft.

Drain the fish, lay in a platter and put a bit of butter and a dash of pepper on each piece. Do not set in the oven to keep warm and thus spoil the fish by overheating and hardening it. Surround it with a border of small boiled beans, cut in halves and alternating with boiled carrots sliced lengthwise. Serve at once with pork scraps and an egg sauce, boiled potatoes and, if liked, onions, for they are included in the old time dinner. To give the fish a modern touch sprinkle a little finely minced parsley over it and the combination of green, white, red and yellow will be especially tempting.

For the pork scraps cut slices of pork half an inch thick, then into cubes and put into a frying pan, set over moderate heat. It should take about twenty-five minutes to cook them clear. Draw over greater heat and cook brown and crisp. One cup of the scraps is usually served.

To make the egg sauce use two tablespoons of flour and when smooth add two cups of hot milk. Season with salt and pepper and cook five minutes. Add two hard boiled eggs chopped rather fine.

The housekeeper who likes to know something about right combinations of food is reminded that the codfish furnishes a good amount of protein. Its deficiency in fat is supplied by the pork scraps while the necessary carbohydrates are given in the starchy vegetables.

Some of the combinations of food so common in the early days were not only appetizing but experience proved their sustaining power. Many of them are too good to be dropped from modern cookery.

Stops a Deep-Seated Cough in a Hurry

A Family Supply of Unequaled Cough Remedy for 50c—Money Returned if It Fails.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large proportion of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one that anyone can make. A pint of granulated sugar, with 3 pint of warm water, stirred for 2 minutes, gives you as good syrup as money can buy. A 50-cent bottle of Pinex, mixed in a pint bottle with home-made sugar syrup, gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-mixed for $2.50. There's a clear saving of $2.00. Full directions in package.

And money couldn't buy a quicker, better remedy. Takes hold at once, gives almost instant relief, and quickly stops the most obstinate, deep-seated cough in 24 hours. It stimulates the appetite, is slightly laxative and has a pleasant taste—children take it willingly. Splendid for hoarseness, asthma, chest pain and other throat troubles, and unequalled for prompt results in whooping cough.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of imported Norway White Pine extract, and is rich in gaulonic and other natural healing pine elements. Simply mix it as directed with sugar syrup or strained honey, and it is ready for use.

Used in more homes in the U. S. and Canada than any other cough remedy.

Pinex has often been imitated, but never successfully, for nothing else will produce the same results. The genuine is guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Certificate of guarantee is wrapped in each package. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ltd., Wayne, Ind.

HOW CHRONIC COUGHS

Are Being Cured by Vinol
New Haven, Conn.—"I was troubled with a most persistent chronic cough for a long time and had tried so many remedies and prescriptions without benefit that I was discouraged. I was persuaded by my friends to try Vinol. After taking the second bottle, my cough left me, and I must say I never felt better in my life. I can also recommend Vinol to any one in a run-down condition as the best possible remedy."

It is the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver, added by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron which makes Vinol so efficient in curing chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis—at the same time building up the weakened, run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

A WOMAN'S EXPERIENCE.

A woman who has lived alone since the death of her husband, a few years ago, not feeling obliged to prepare conventional meals, has discovered that when she eats only two or three articles at a meal, she is in better health than when, having visitors, or eating away from home, she has a greater variety. The course dinner is a grave evil, not only because it tends to derange digestion and lay the foundation for all forms of disease, by lowering vitality, but it necessitates much unnecessary work in the household. The elimination of meat, in part at least, is a step in the right direction, but when the vegetarian thinks that he must add a variety of foods to take the place of meat, there may be no improvement, economic or hygienic.

THE HEAVENS IN NOVEMBER.

By Prof. Eric Doolittle of the University of Pennsylvania.

Three rather bright comets not far from the earth. Planetary Conjunctions. Double stars and Nebulas.

No one who is interested in watching the face of the heavens can have failed to notice how the eastern sky has been continually growing more brilliant as the bright winter groups make their appearance and begin their steady, upward march, one after another. The magnificent Taurus is now high up from the ground and covers a large part of the eastern heavens, while below the almost equally brilliant Centaur and Orion have almost wholly entered the evening sky. Next month the bright Dog Stars will appear, and by January we will see, at the last of the train of winter groups. Then Orion and the Bull will shine out, high up in the cold, clear sky exactly in the south, and the yellow Capella will have reached a point of the heavens almost exactly overhead.

If we turn toward the south, we see the Great Square of Pegasus, with the large group Andromeda above and the almost equally large, but very much fainter Pleiades, below; while, still farther down, are the Whale, the Water-Bearer, and the Southern Fish, this whole region being given up to watery constellations and sometimes known as the Sea of the sky. To the Arabians even the Great Square was known as the Water-Bucket; the vacant region between this and Pleiades was the Fox's kennel.

PLANETARY CONJUNCTIONS.

We recently had the pleasure of seeing a very near approach of the bright planets Saturn and Mars. A far more beautiful sight must have been that which occurred in February, 2448 B. C., when, according to Chinese records, no less than four planets were here in conjunction—Mercury, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn passing one another in the constellation Pleiades. No less than three conjunctions of Jupiter and Saturn again here took place in a single year, one of which for a long time was believed to be identical with the one of the most beautiful doubles in the heavens. The larger star is here a deep yellow and the smaller one blue. All of the stars marked K in Figure 1 will be seen to be beautiful doubles in a small telescope.

At the point M, in Figure 1, nearly midway between the stars H and L, there is a remarkable nebula whose extent is as great as the distance across the full moon. This is far fainter than the wonderful Nebula of Andromeda at C, and in any but the largest telescopes is a disappointing object. In these, however, it is seen to be an astonishing arrangement of nuclei and spirals, forming one of the most interesting objects of this kind in the sky. Its faintness may be caused by its great distance from us, or it may be due to the fact that this enormous cloud is not intrinsically bright. For one of the most interesting results recently derived from a careful study of nebulas is the indication that at least some of them contain much opaque matter which blocks out the light of the more distant stars in front of which they lie.

Below the Triangle is Arles, whose brightest star, at H, is a sun in very nearly the same condition as our own, and which is approaching us with a speed of nine miles a second. No less than eight of the early Greek temples were orientated to this star.

The reader doubtless knows that our sun seems to pass continually around the sky among the stars once each year along the path AVII. In the springtime it crosses the equator at V and then the life of a new year begins to revive on the earth. But this point is far from reaching steadily along the path IIATOWARD the west. In the year 4000 B. C. it was in Taurus, while by 420 A. D. it had passed entirely through Arles and entered Pleiades, within which constellation it is still to be found. As the stars were so often compared with clocks, it is not surprising that the name of the item was given to the group which led all the rest for so many centuries.

THE PLANETS.

Mercury passed into the evening sky on October 23, but as it does not reach its greatest distance east of the sun until December 7 it can hardly be detected during this month.

Venus is drawing rapidly outward from the sun in the morning sky, and on November 20 it will reach its greatest distance west, on which date it will rise more than three hours before sunrise. It now shines out no less brilliantly in the morning than a few weeks ago it was seen as a ship in the evening sky. In the telescope it will be seen to change from a crescent shape to a half circle during this month.

Mars and Saturn are high up from the ground in the southeast, in excellent position for observation. The strikingly bright red planet is moving westward through Taurus, and the more distant Saturn is moving far more slowly westward near the eastern border of Aries. The former planet attains its nearest distance to us November 17, at 6 A. M., at which time it is but 47,000,000 of miles away. It will not, however, arrive at the point of the celestial sphere exactly opposite the sun, and so be due south at midnight until November 21. Throughout this month both Mars and Saturn will be in the most favorable position for observation of the entire year.

Jupiter, which has been drawing so near the sun that it has not been visible for several weeks, will finally pass behind that body and enter the morning sky on November 13. It cannot, therefore, be observed during this month.

Uranus is very low in the southwest at the position shown in Figure 1. Neptune is in the constellation Gemini, nearly in a line with the two Twin stars, but beyond the borders of our chart and too low down to be easily found in the telescope before midnight.

THE COMETS.

There are no less than three rather bright comets which have recently drawn near our sun, and are now not far from the earth. The first of these is the bright comet Brooks, which was so conspicuous in the northwest during the first week of October, but which has now passed far below the equator, and will hence never be seen by us again. It is still visible to those so situated on the earth that they can view the southern sky.

Figure 3. Remarkable streamer of apparently dark nebulous matter in the sky, which seems to be hiding the more distant stars from view. (From a delicate photographic plate which was exposed four hours to the sky.)

The second comet, unlike either of the two others, remains in the evening sky throughout October and the first part of November, but, unfortunately, it will always be faint, and can only be seen in a moderately large telescope. When first found, on the evening of September 23, it was about midway between the Pointers of the Great Dipper and Polaris; it was then but little brighter than a star of the eighth magnitude. During October it moved southward and eastward about parallel to the Great Dipper, but always about ten degrees above it, reaching by November 1, a point 12 degrees due east of Arcturus. Throughout all of this time it was quite high in the northwest in the early evening, but it was very faint. During November it will move almost exactly south through Boetes, Serpens and Libra, thus drawing near to the part of the sky in which the third comet is to be found. Toward the end of the month it passes the sun and enters the morning sky.

The third comet was by far the brightest and most interesting of all, but unfortunately it remained always so very near the sun that it could only be seen with difficulty. This was first seen in the northeastern sky about two hours before sunrise, a very little way to the east of the bright star Regulus. During October it passed east of the sun across the constellations Leo and Virgo. During November it will move southward across Libra and throughout the entire length of Scorpio, reaching a point 30 degrees below the equator by the end of the month. Thus, while it may be detected toward the beginning of the month very low down in the twilight glow in the southwest, just after sunset, it will always be too near the sun to be well seen. As long as it remains in our northern sky it will be fully a whole magnitude brighter than Brooks' Comet, but it will only be found with difficulty on account of its proximity to the sun. ERIC DOOLITTLE.

The Useful Verb "To Get."

There is no word, long or short, in the English language capable of performing so much labor in a clear, intelligible sense as the verb to get; and here is an old-time specimen of its capabilities:

"I got on horseback within ten minutes after I got your letter. When I got to Canterbury I got a chaise for town; but I got wet through before I got to Canterbury and I have got such a cold as I shall not be able to get rid of in a hurry. I got to the treasury about noon, but first of all I got shaved and dressed. I soon got into the secret of getting a memorial before the board, but I could not get an answer then; however, I got intelligence from the messenger that I should most likely get one the next morning. As soon as I got back to my inn I got my supper. When I got up in the morning I got my breakfast and then got myself dressed that I might get out in time to get an answer to my memorial. As soon as I got it I got into the first chaise and got to Canterbury by 3 o'clock, and about ten time I got home."

Correcting Willie.

Papa and mamma and son Willie were crossing the ocean. Willie had done something for which his mother thought he needed correction, but not feeling equal to the occasion she turned to her husband.

"John," she said, "can't you speak to Willie?"

Papa replied in a thin, weak voice, "Howdy, Willie."—Success Magazine.

THEATER

"MERRY MARY."

A riot of fun, sunshine and music is the verdict of "Merry Mary," the next of music plays, which has just finished an all summer's run at the White Hot Opera House, Chicago, and which comes to Myers Theater, Tuesday, November 7.

"Merry Mary" is a song farce, with a plot, real and not hackneyed, and one the author has developed with ease and a naturalness that appeals. It is filled with numerous complications and the ludicrous situations make hundreds of genuine hearty laughs.

Carefully placed are "The Land of Make Believe," "The Summer Girls," "I Love No One But You," "Hip, Hip Hooray—My Wedding Day," "I'm on My Way," "Experience will Teach You How," "Land of Hom Boo Loo," and a dozen other decided and distinct music hits, any one of which would be sufficient to make any music offering a success. "Merry Mary" fairly sparkles with more pretty, catchy music than any half dozen later day musical successes.

The cast headed by Bertha Gibson, Eddy Martin, Ruby Rathbun, and Jack Kenyon, is an exceptionally capable one, while the chorus is the original and now famous "Taxicab Chorus."

The Charles M. Baker Amusement Company has spared no expense in employing every art of the electrician and scenic artist and costumers to make it a production unequalled by any other organization on tour today.

It will be here soon and will be the one big musical event of the season.

"THE DEEP PURPLE."

How large a proportion of the police force are dishonest? It is a big question, and one that everybody is interested in seeing answered. In "The Deep Purple," which will be here shortly, setting forth the dark and devious ways of crooks, the statement is made that two-thirds of the police can be bribed, thus leaving the stainless ones in an insignificant minority. It was a daring declaration to make, and the authors of the play had much kindly advice given them in regard to it. After a while they decided to see what the country, as a whole, thought about the matter, so, taking their pens in hand, they wrote to newspapers all over the land requesting enlightenment.

They said, which was a fair proposition, that if the majority of the editors did not back up their statement, they would change it. They had said what they had thought right, but to err is human, as has before this been pointed out.

The result of this voluminous correspondence is most interesting. It is more than that, it is important, especially taken in connection with Inspector McCluskey's recent declaration that sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of New York's police force are honest. For the most part the press of the country seems to agree that the inspector is right, and that the police average well, in spite of reports to the contrary.

Inspector McCluskey said, that while the illegibilities and abuses had grown up during a course of years, the fault lay not with the men but with those who had ruled them. He expressed himself as well content with the situation.

Taking up a pile of letters sent in answer to "The Deep Purple" inquiry, it is possible to see what is thought by prominent people in other sections of the country. From all sections it looks as though "The Deep Purple" estimates of the police was of too sinister a hue.

"The Deep Purple" will be seen at Myers Theater, Friday, November 3.

Changed Her Mind.

A young couple had been courting for several years and the young man seemed to be in no hurry to marry. Finally, one day, he said:

"Say, I canna marry thee."

"How's that?" asked she.

"I've changed my mind," said he.

"Well, I'll tell thee what we'll do," said she. "If folks know that it's thee as has given me up I shanna be able to get another chap; but if they think I've given thee up I can get all I want. So we'll have banns published and when the wedding day comes the parson will say to thee, 'Wilt thou have this woman for thy wedded wife?' and thou must say, 'I will.' And when he says to me, 'Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?' I shall say, 'I winna.'"

The day came, and when the minister asked the important question the man answered, "I will."

Then the parson said to the woman:

"Wilt thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" and she said:

"I will."

"Why," said the young man furiously, "you said you would say 'I winna.'"

"I know that," said the young woman, "but I've changed my mind since."—National Monthly.

Stricken With Generosity.

A Scotsman brought his entire family of seven to visit a relative in London. They were entertained in a manner that left nothing to be asked for two weeks; theaters, suppers, cabrides about the city, excursions into the country. The whole time McPherson never put his hand in his pocket to pay for a thing.

When the family was going home, the Londoner and his cousin went into the buffet for a final glass. From force of habit he groped for his wallet; but Sandy gripped his arm.

"No, na!" said he. "Ye've been vorra gude to me an' mine this fortnicht past. Mon, we'll ha' a toss for this last wee nipple!"—Success Magazine.

Far Enough.

A young man had called upon his best girl the night before. As a result he had but poorly prepared his Virgil lesson. In spite of this fact he translated fairly well for a short time, but after reading "and I put my arms around her" he suddenly stopped, unable to translate further and said:

"That is as far as I got, professor."

The instructor's reply was: "That's far enough, young man."

I never put off till tomorrow the things that were well done today; that policy at once brings tomorrow and drives many blessings away. That putting off habit—each day! When facing a chore that looks bad, just get down to business and do it, and when it is done you'll be glad. The man who is shirking and moping, that life is a rough, weary way, are fellows too fond of postponing, and letting things slide every day. If I stack up high with the banker, and have a few rocks of my own, the reason is this: I don't bank to fiddle around and postpone. This evening the husband was looking—a feminine labor that was when and all of my husbands were nothing to sample a few of her pie. "Don't touch them," she cried, "till tomorrow!" and then she looked at me and cried: "That policy means but to borrow a dumper to put on your pride. My motto, my dear—well you know it—is: 'Never postpone; don't wait!' So just watch your splay-footed poet do things to a pair of your poet!"

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear, there is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is fully closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be lost forever. It is not a case of the ear, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MISS MINERVA and WILLIAM GREEN HILL

By FRANCES BOYD CALHOUN

(Copyright, by Kelly & Britton Co.)

Lina gazed up the street.

"That looks like Miss Minerva to me 'way up yonder," she remarked. "I think we had better get away from here before she sees us."

Two little girls rolling doll bugles fairly flew down the street and one little boy quickly climbed to the top of the dividing fence. From this safe vantage point he shouted to Billy, who was holding the nozzle of the hose out of which poured a stream of water.

"You'd better turn that water off 'cause Miss Minerva's going to be madder'n a green persimmon."

"I do know how to," said Billy firmly. "You turn it on."

"Drop the hose and run to the hydrant and twist that little thing at the top," screamed Jimmy. "You all time got to porpose something to get little boys in trouble anyway," he added ungenerously.

"You perposed this yo' self," declared an indignant Billy. "You said Aunt Minerva's so 'ligious she wouldn't git mad."

"Christian woman's can get just as mad as any other kind," declared the other boy, sliding from his perch on the fence and running across the lawn to disappear behind his own front steps.

Holding her skirts nearly up to her knees Miss Minerva stepped gingerly along the wet and muddy street till she got to her gate, where her nephew met her, looking a little sulky, but still holding his head up with that characteristic, manly air which was so attractive.

"William," she said sternly, "I see you have been getting into mischief, and I feel it my duty to punish you, so that you may learn to be trustworthy. I said nothing to you about the hose because I did not think you would know how to use it."

Billy remained silent. He did not want to betray his little companions of the morning, so he said nothing in his own defense.

"Come with me into the house," continued his aunt, "you must go to bed at once."

But the child protested vigorously. "Don't make me go to bed in the daytime, Aunt Minerva; me an' Wilkes North Lincoln ain't never went to bed in the daytime since we was born, an' I ain't never hear tell of a real 'ligious woman a-puttin' a little boy in bed 'fore it's dark, an' I ain't never ing nephew as he sat down on the floor, all eager anticipation, and began to untie the string. His charming, changeable face was bright and happy again, but his expression became one of indignant amazement as he saw the contents of the box.

"What I want with a doll?" he asked angrily. "I ain't no girl."

"I think every little boy should have a doll and learn to make clothes for it," said Miss Minerva. "I don't want you to be a great, rough boy; I want you to be a sweet and gentle like a little girl; I am going to teach you how to sew and cook and sweep, so you may grow up a comfort to me."

This was a gloomy forecast for the little boy accustomed, as he had been, to the freedom of a big plantation, and he scowled darkly.

"Me an' Wilkes North Lincoln ain't never hatter play with no dolls since we was born," he replied sullenly. "We goes in swimmin' an' plays baseball. I can knock a home-run an' pitch a curve an' ketch a fly. Why don't you gimme a baseball bat? I already got a ball what Admiral Farragut gimme. An' I ain't agoin' to be no sissy neither. Lina an' Frances plays dolls, me an' Jimmy—" he stopped in sudden confusion.

"Lina and Frances and James!" exclaimed his aunt. "What do you know about them, William?"

The child's face flushed. "I seen 'em this mornin'!" he acknowledged. "Miss Minerva put a hand on either shoulder and looked straight into his eyes."

"William, who started that sprinkling this mornin'?" she questioned, sharply.

Billy flushed guiltily and lowered his lids; but only for an instant. Quickly recovering his composure he returned her gaze steadily and ignored her question.

"I see yo' beau too, Aunt Minerva," he remarked tranquilly.

It was Miss Minerva this time who lost her composure, for her thin, pale face became perfectly crimson.

"My beau?" she asked confusedly. "Who put that nonsense into your head?"

"Jimmy show him to me," he replied jauntily, once more master of the situation and in full realization of the fact. "Why don't you marry him, Aunt Minerva, so's he could live sew. An' yo' all could get the doctor to fetch you a little baby so he wouldn't hatter to play with no doll. I sho' wish we had him here," ended a selfish Billy, "he could save me a lot of steps. An' I sho' would like to hear 'bout all them Injuns an' Yanks know what he's killed."

Billy's aunt was visibly embarrassed.

The persistent admiration of this, her one lover, had been pleasing to her, yet she had never been willing to sacrifice her independence for the cares and trials of matrimony. The existing state of affairs between the two was known to every one in the small town, but such was Miss Minerva's dignified aloofness that Billy was the first person who had dared to breach the subject to her.

"Sit down here, William," she commanded, "and I will read to you."

"Tell me a tale," he said, looking up at her with his bright, sweet smile. The doll lay neglected on a chair near by and Billy wanted her to forget it.

"Tell me 'bout Pilgerk Peter."

"Pilgerk Peter?" there was an inter-rogation in her voice.

"Yas'm. Ain't you never hear tell 'bout Pilgerk Peter? He had fifteen children an' one time the las' one of 'em an' his ole 'oman was down with the fever an' he ain't got but one pill an' they so sick they mos' 'bout to die an' ain't nobody in the fol' for to pick the cotton an' he can't git no doctor an' he ain't got but just that one pill; so he tie that pill to a string an' let the biggest chile swallow it an' draw it back up an' let the nex chile swallow it an' jerk it back up an' let the nex chile swallow it an' jerk it back up an' let the nex—"

"I don't believe in telling tales to children," interrupted his aunt. "I will tell you biographical and historical stories and stories from the Bible. Now listen, while I read to you."

"An' the nex chile swallow it an' he jerk it back up," continued Billy sullenly. "An' the nex chile swallow it an' he jerk it back up till finely ev' single one of 'em, plumb down to the baby, swallow that pill an' the las' one of 'em got well an' that one pill it done the work. Then he tuck the pill and give it to his ole 'oman an' she swallow it an' he jerk it back up but didn't nothin' 't all come up but just the string an' his ole 'oman who died 'cause all the strenk done gone out of that pill."

Miss Minerva opened a book called "Gems for the Household," which she had purchased from a silver-tongued book-agent. She selected an article the subject of which was "The Pure in Heart."

Billy listened with a seemingly attentive ear to the choice flow of words, but in reality his little brain was busy with its own thoughts. The article closed with the suggestion that if one were innocent and pure he would have a dreamless sleep:

"If you have a conscience clear, And God's commands you keep; If your heart is good and pure, You will have a perfect sleep."

Billy's aunt concluded. Wishing to know if he had understood what she had just read she asked:

"What people sleep the soundest?"

"Niggers," was his prompt reply, as he thought of the long summer days and the colored folk on the plantation. She was disappointed, but not discouraged.

"Now, William," she admonished, "I'm going to read you another piece, and I want you to tell me about it, when I got through. Pay strict attention."

"Yas'm," he readily agreed.

She chose an article describing the keen senses of small animals. Miss Minerva was not an entertaining reader and the words were long and fairly incomprehensible to the little boy sitting patiently at her side.

Doctors' Prescription for Eczema

The most advanced physicians of this country and Europe are now prescribing a wash of wintergreen thymol and other soothing and healing ingredients for the cure of Eczema, Psoriasis and all other forms of skin trouble. This compound is known as the D. D. D. Prescription.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist, writes: "I am convinced that the D. D. D. Prescription is as much a specific for Eczema as is quinine for a malaria. We have been prescribing the D. D. D. remedy for years."

I my self couch for the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema and absolutely guaranteed that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it.

Again his thoughts wandered, though every now and then he caught a word or two.

"What animals have the keenest sense of smell, William?" was her query at the conclusion of her reading.

"Billy goats," was Billy's answer without the slightest hesitation.

"You have goats on the brain," she said in anger. "I did not read one word about Billy goats."

"Well, if 'tain't a Billy goat," he replied, "I do know what 'tis 'bout 't's a skunk."

"I bought you a little primer this mornin'," she remarked after a short silence, "and I want you to say a lesson every day."

"I already knows a lot," he boasted. "Tabernicle, he an' Mercantile both been to school an' they learnt me an' Wilkes North Lincoln. I knows crooked 8, an' broken back K, an' curly tall Q, an' round O, an' I can spell c-a-t, an' d-o-g, dog an' A stands for apple."

"That night he concluded his ever lengthily prayer at his kneesman's knee with:

"O Lord, please make for Aunt Minerva a little baby, make her two of 'em. O Lord, if you got 'em to spare please make her three little babies an' let 'em all be girls so's she can learn 'em how to churn an' sew. An' bless Aunt Minerva and Major Minerva, f'r ever 'nd ever. Amen."

As he rose from his knees he asked: "Aunt Minerva, do God work on Sunday?"

"No," answered his relative, hesitatingly.

"Well, it look like He'd jest hatter work on Sunday. He's so busy jest a-makin' babies. He makes all the niggers an' heathens an' Injuns an' white chillions; I reckon He gits somebody to help him. Don't you, Aunt Minerva?"

FEMALE DIVERS OF JAPAN

Women Who Begin at 13 to Search for Pearls in the Coast Waters.

The pearl divers of Japan are women. Along the coast of the Bay of Ago and the Bay of Kokasho the thirteen and fourteen-year-old girls, after they have finished their primary school work, go to sea and learn to dive.

They are in the water and learn to swim almost from babyhood and spend most of their time in the water except in the coldest season, from the end of December to the beginning of February. Even during the most inclement of seasons they sometimes dive for pearls.

They wear a special dress, white undergarment and the hair twisted up into a hard knot. The eyes are protected by glasses to prevent the entrance of water. Tubs are suspended from the waist. A boat in command of a man is assigned to every five or ten women divers to carry them to and from the fishing grounds.

When the divers arrive on the grounds they leap into the water at once and begin to gather oysters at the bottom. The oysters are dropped into tubs suspended from their waists. When the vessels are filled the divers are raised to the surface and jump into the boats. They dive to a depth of from five to thirty fathoms without any special apparatus and retain their breath from one to three minutes.

Their ages vary from thirteen to forty years and between twenty-five and thirty-five they are at their prime.

YOUNG BEAVER'S DAY'S WORK

Record Made by One of the Animals in Regent's Park Gardens, London.

A young beaver in Regent's Park gardens, London, was once placed at work upon a tree 12 feet long and 2 feet 6 inches thick just as the town clocks sounded the hour of noon. The beaver began by barking the tree a foot above the ground.

That done he attacked the wood. He worked hard, alternating his labor with dips in his bathing pond. He bathed and labored alternately until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when he ate his supper of bread and carrots and paddled about in his pond until half-past 5 o'clock.

Ten minutes later, when only one inch of the tree's diameter remained intact, he bore upon his work and the tree fell. Before it fell the beaver ran as men run when they have fired a blast. Then as the tree lay on the ground he portioned it out mentally and again began to gnaw.

He worked at intervals all night, cut the log into three parts, rolled two of the portions into the water and reserved the other third for his permanent shelter. The work done, he took a bath.—Harper's Weekly.

A Cooking Feat in the Air.

To cook a potato pie at the top of a chimney three hundred feet high by means of the heat generated in the fires below would seem an impossible task, yet such a feat was on one occasion accomplished by John Faulkner, a famous Lancashire steepclimber.

The incident was the outcome of a wager between Faulkner and the manager of a Manchester gas works, who doubted John's statement regarding the excessive heat.

A large iron kettle was procured, and this, being filled with necessary ingredients—sixty-six pounds in weight—was hoisted to the summit of the huge chimney stack. Faulkner placed the receptacle on the outer and coolest side of the brickwork, but despite this, the contents were found to be thoroughly cooked in one hour and twenty minutes, or ten minutes less than the stipulated time.

Faulkner won his wager and the pie, which, it is said, was slightly burned at the bottom, was afterwards distributed among the poor of the district.—Hystander.

A Helpless Invalid

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

A woman who is sick and suffering, and won't at least try a medicine which has the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, is, it would almost seem, to blame for her own wretchedness. Read what this woman says:

Richmond, Mo. — "When my second daughter was eighteen months old I was pronounced a hopeless invalid by specialists. I had a consultation of doctors and they said I had a severe case of ulceration of the bowels and they said I was in a dangerous condition. My father insisted that we try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought me six bottles. I soon began to improve, and before it had all been taken I was as well and strong as ever, my friends hardly recognizing me so great was the change." — Mrs. Woodson Brunstetter, Richmond, Mo.

There are literally hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

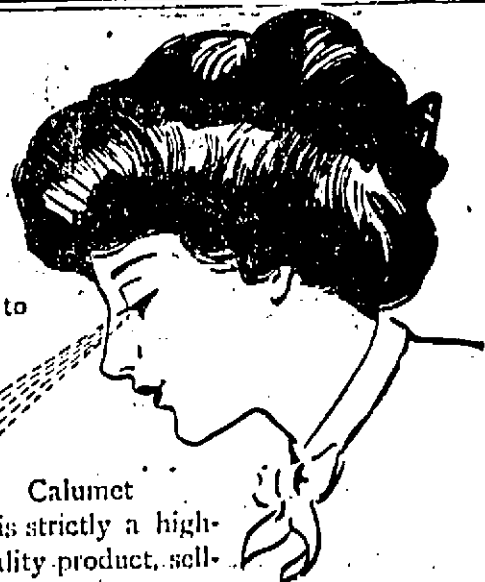

Read what another woman says:—

Jonesboro, Texas. — "I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for myself and daughter, and consider it unequalled for all female diseases. I would not be without it for anything. I wish every mother in America could be persuaded to use it as there would be less suffering among our sex then. I am always glad to speak a word of praise for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and you are at liberty to use this testimonial." — Mrs. James T. Lawrence, Jonesboro, Texas.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering from the same trouble?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ailments. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

If the slightest trouble appears which you do not understand, write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass., for her advice—it is free and always helpful.

a-going to meddle with yo' ole hose no mo'."

But Miss Minerva was obstinate, and the little boy spent a miserable hour between the sheets.

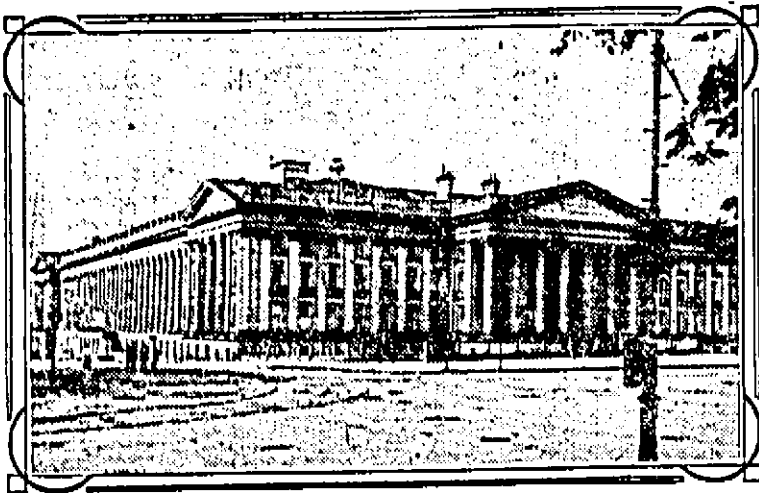

CHAPTER VI.

Successful Strategy.

"I have a present for you," said his aunt, handing Billy a long, rectangular package.

"Thank you, ma'am," said her beau.

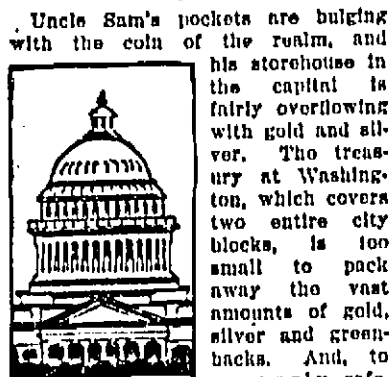

UNITED STATES TREASURY BUILDING.

MONEY VAULTS FILLED

UNCLE SAM'S POCKETS ARE BULGING WITH COIN.

Great Storehouse of the National Treasury at Washington is Now Fairly Overflowing With Gold and Silver.

Uncle Sam's pockets are bulging with the coin of the realm, and his storehouse in the capital is fairly overflowing with gold and silver. The treasury at Washington, which covers two entire city blocks, is too small to pack away the vast amounts of gold, silver and greenbacks. And, to properly safeguard his treasure, he was finally compelled to build five more large vaults, which have just been completed, in addition to the eight immense vaults containing billions of dollars in gold, silver, greenbacks and securities, and several smaller safe-vaults in use in the treasury for years past.

These five new vaults were constructed on the west side of the treasury building. The old steep roadway was removed and lowered at the same time to permit of the handling of all kinds of money in bulk, direct from the treasure wagons to the vaults.

The new vaults are wonderful in their intricate construction. They are surrounded by thousands of highly-charged electric wires imbedded in solid concrete, any one of which will give an alarm instantly if touched by any person not intrusted with the secret combination. One of the new money vaults has been built in the sub-basement, and the other four in the basement itself. Each vault is about twenty-five feet wide by thirty feet long, and all five are built of reinforced concrete four and a half feet thick and strong in proportion. The vaults are as nearly burglar-proof as human ingenuity can make them.

All the money vaults in the treasury are under the direct control of Leo McClung, the treasurer of the United States. Mr. McClung succeeded Charles H. Trent in 1908. Frank J. P. Thiel is private secretary to the treasurer, and is Mr. McClung's right-hand man. He has been with the government for the past six years and during this time made a thorough study of the government finances. The writer is much indebted to Mr. Thiel for valuable data collected by him for use in this story.

The financial transactions of the government are conducted on a scale of such magnitude as to seem almost incredible. For instance, during the period of 13 years from 1897 to June 30, 1910, the accounts settled in the office of the auditor for the treasury department aggregated the immense sum of $68,181,000,000, an average of nearly $5,250,000,000 a year. This vast sum embraces the income and expenditure of the government, the issue, redemption and exchange of currency, accounts of mints and assay offices, customs and those relating to the postal service, the revenues of which for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1909, amounted to $293,562,383.67, and the expenditures $221,001,102.59.

It is not generally known that the United States today holds the largest stock of gold of any nation in the world. The amount of gold in the United States is more than three times as large as that of Great Britain and France, Great Britain and Germany, or Great Britain and Russia combined.

If the country's stock of 564,601,719 silver dollars were loaded into freight cars of 60,000 pounds, or 20 tons eachably, it would require more than 555 cars to carry them. If these same silver dollars could be laid flat, one on top of the other, they would make a monument 835 miles high. If placed end to end they would make a hand-some "necklace" 12,350 miles in length. Or they would make a belt that would extend more than half-way around the world.

One thousand dollars in new gold coins weighs 3.88 pounds. Uncle Sam's stock of gold, therefore, is equivalent to about 3,000 tons, which would require a train of 100 cars to carry it, each car having a carrying capacity of more than 60,000 pounds. One million crisp, new one-dollar paper bills, if placed one on top of the other, would make a column about 200 feet in height, or nearly half as high as the Washington monument.

United States paper currency is issued in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. The notes are put up in packages containing 4,000 of each denomination. So, while a package of 4,000 $1 silver certificates, about seven inches square, contains but $4,000, yet a similar size package of $10,000 gold certificates would contain the equivalent of $40,000,000.

The treasury of the United States in a broad sense embraces the treasury at Washington, as well as nine sub-treasuries located in as many principal cities; 13 mints and assay offices, and 1,378 national banks in all parts of the country, designated as depositories.

The treasurer of the United States is charged with the receipt and disbursement of all public moneys deposited in the treasury at Washington, and in the various sub-treasuries and national bank depositories. He is also redemption agent for national bank notes, and trustee for bonds held to secure national bank circulation and public deposits in national banks, as well as fiscal agent for the payment of interest on the public debt. He is a bonded official, and the financial responsibilities attached to his office are tremendous.

His Friendly Warning.
A Centralia man found it advisable to put on a ragged suit of clothes in order to repair some machinery. After he had finished he went home to dinner. He met a tramp coming out of his front gate as he went in. The tramp mistook him for a knight of the road. He held up a warning hand. "Duck it—retreat," cautioned the tramp. "I've just tried her and she's a regular bear-cat."

His Own Manufacture.
Sir William Bailey "played" this off," as he expressed it, at a dinner at which the late Cardinal Vaughan sat near to him. "Where did you get that bit of history from?" the cardinal asked. "I didn't get it from anywhere," Sir William answered. "I make history as I go on."

GRACE DARLING OF AMERICA AND HER ISLAND HOME FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS.

Newport, Rhode Island.—Ida Lewis, keeper of the Lime Rock light in Narragansett Bay, and known the world over as Grace Darling of America, is no more. She has passed this life, but her memory will live through the ages for the deeds she accomplished and her unusual surroundings. For over sixty years she has been keeper of the Lime Rock light. Sailors of every nation have watched the alternating gleams in fair and stormy weather, and have thanked the plucky guardian who thus pointed out their course to them.

Ida Lewis is one of the famous women of the world and who has been called the Grace Darling of America. She went to keep the light with her father as a little girl and she tended it weeks while her father lay ill. When he died she was appointed keeper. This was sixty years ago and she has been there ever since.

During the 60's she made some thrilling rescues going out in an open boat when the sea was running very high. The General Assembly of Rhode Island thanked her and Congress took notice. She received medals and souvenirs and visits from famous people, including Gen. Grant, Gen. Sherman, and Vice President Coffey.

By vote of Congress she was made a permanent lightkeeper and the only woman to be given that distinction.

A few years ago she was given a medal and was made a Carnegie pensioner.

Taken Literally.
The sign in front of a Harlem restaurant attracted the eye of a farmer, and he went in. He had a raw, a fry, a stew, a pan roast, a broil, and a steam on toast. When he got through he held a quarter on the cashier's desk, only to be told that he was shy a dollar and a quarter. "No, by Jing," said the farmer. "A quarter's right. Doesn't your sign say, 'Oysters in every style for 25 cents'?"

A MAIL CARRIER'S LOAD
Seems heavier when he has a weak back and kidney trouble. Fred Duchon, Mail Carrier at Afton, Kan., says: "I have been bothered with kidney and bladder trouble and had a severe pain across my back. Whenever I carried a heavy load of mail, my kidney trouble increased. Some time ago, I started taking Foley's Kidney Pills and since taking them I have gotten entirely rid of all my kidney trouble and am as sound now as ever." Foley's Kidney Pills are made in action, and quick in results. Try them. Badger Drug Co.

Remedy for Cramp.

A sufferer from cramp during sleep writes that he found a remedy. He noticed that he never became cramped no matter how long he napped in a reclining chair. These facts, in connection with some physiological considerations, induced the writer to put into practice the following plan, which has proved decidedly successful: To sleep upon an inclined plane. This is effected by taking care that the bed or mattress should incline 12 inches from the upper to the lower part of the bed; and for this purpose the lower feet were cut down so as to form this inclination.

Health Hint!

One heroic cure for dyspepsia is to eat only when really hungry. As an experienced doctor says: "No man ever died of starvation without being hungry." If the appetite does not return, stimulate it by active exercise.
